MISS PAULINE BENTON

Sponsor...friend...adviser...helper through the Class of 1931, dedicate this volume of "The Marshallite."

Foreward

OUR efforts this year have been to edit an annual which would be purely local in character, a book which from cover to cover would present a true picture of our school and the activities that center around it. To the outsider we hope it may give some idea of what John Marshall means to us. To the student may it be a record of the happiness, the friendships, the associations of high school days.

Administration and Instruction

JOHN MARSHALL HIGH SCHOOL stands out today as the largest high school of its kind in the Southern States, and one of the largest in the country. With an enrollment of three thousand, two hundred forty-two, it stands to reason that the school should be far-renowned for its achievements in both scholarship and athletics. The enrollment of this year, while not showing as great an increase as has been shown in previous years, is still considerably larger than the capacity intended for John Marshall High School. The decrease in enrollment is due to the opening of the new Thomas Jefferson High School, Richmond's new senior high school in the West End.

There have been some changes made in the faculty in the course of the past school year. In September it was necessary to secure a number of new teachers to take the places of those who had been transferred to either Thomas Jefferson High School or Northside Junior High School. The new teachers are: Misses Mary Virginia Daughtrey, Mary Elizabeth Jenkins, Helen Harwood, Dorothy Smith, Eloise Davis, Ethel Hill, Elise Stephenson, Ella Rouzie, Julia Spratley, Frances Bell, Elizabeth Hart, Wilhelmina Wright, Mary Maxwell Brockenbrough, Mrs. Estelle Bugg, and Messieurs Charles Moore and Elmer Potter, the latter a practice-teacher in the French Department. Misses Hazel Gary and Florence Laughton were given furlough, and Misses Elsie McClintic and Margaret Billings are filling their vacancies. Due to the resignation of Miss Grace Rowe, Mr. Grady Garrett is now a member of the English Department.

John Marshall High School offers a wide and varied curriculum, so that the student is given ample opportunity to follow the line of work which he prefers. The courses offered are: Elective, Latin, Modern Language, Scientific, History, Commercial, Home Economics, and Vocational Trade, the latter being for boys only. Thirty-six points are necessary for graduation in any course. In addition to regular studies, credit is also given for Military Drill, Chorus, and Outside Music. In four years, therefore, a pupil may receive enough credits to enter any college or university, whether within or without the state.

John Marshall High School is comprised of twelve departments devoted to Mathematics, History, Modern Languages, Science, English, Latin, Trade, Art, Music, Home Economics, Military and Commercial subjects. There are one hundred and twenty-one teachers in these departments. In addition, John Marshall has a library which is under the supervision of Misses Mary S. Dew and Lucy Hutchinson. Miss Cordelia Cox is the visiting teacher, and Miss Byrd Michaux, the nurse. A novel experiment which has been found very satisfactory and beneficial, too, is the Sight-Seeing Class under Miss Margaret Jeter. This class has been of great value to those pupils who are troubled with poor vision.

As for the Administration, Mr. James Coleman Harwood, Sr., is the principal. Mr. Harwood has served the school in this capacity for the past twenty-six years. He is ably assisted by Mr. J. Taylor Robinson, who has but recently entered the Administrative Department as assistant principal. There are two secretaries in the John Marshall office, Misses Nellie Henson and Constance King. In the George Wythe building, Mr. Floyd Fowlkes is the principal, and Miss Simpson Thomas, the secretary.

Located in the George Wythe building also is the office of the athletic coach. It is the regret of the whole school that Mr. Dave Miller is leaving this year to act as coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Reports from the various colleges and universities show that the work done by former John Marshall High School students is of a very high standard, surpassing the average of students of other high schools. The number of students on the Deans' lists is gratifying, and the number receiving Honorable Mention is always large. Likewise, there are very few failures, and it is noticed that the ones who fail in college are the ones who have not done the average work at high school. All of the reports have been most encouraging and full of praise for the high school foundation and background.

The Administration Department has a tremendous task in organizing and directing the work of such a large high school, but this task is simplified by the coöperation which exists among all departments of the school, and among teachers and pupils. It is due largely to this fine spirit that John Marshall has been able to maintain its high rating among secondary schools throughout the South.

Senior Class History

BEFORE embarking on the good ship Future, let us stop to consider our former voyages. The sailing has been excellent and thrilling, the experience never to be forgotten. Our cruises have been well guided and never monotonous, offset now and then by three months of shore leave. The crew, the entire class of 1931, has been an admirable one.

Our first voyage is a tumultuous and chaotic one. The number is small—many, perforce, having cancelled reservations at the last moment. With trepidation in our hearts, but with love of adventure in our minds, we weigh anchor, set our sails in the wind, and with a last farewell to our former mates, set out to sea. Although we are only “gobs,” we are not in the least daunted, and in our own minds we are superior to the “old salts,” and certainly to the midshipmen and ensigns.

Having stood as much buffeting as is humanly possible, we hold a meeting, and send out a frantic S. O. S. to Miss Pauline Benton, asking her to be our sponsor. With her at the helm we organize the Freshman Class and elect the following officers: President, James Rice; Vice-President, Hazel Johnson; Secretary, Miriam Pickels; Treasurer, George Ellis; Reporter, Everett Anderson; Historian, Robert Clark. Sailing is much easier now, and every storm is offset by some enjoyable meeting or gay social event. Just as we near the end of our rather hectic though eventful cruise, a dread seasickness in the form of exams overcomes the crew, and departing, leaves its score of victims. Therefore, while some enjoy shore leave, others remain behind to “recuperate.”

Three months have passed. We stand on the dock waiting to board the ship floating idly in the bay. Miss Benton again stands at the helm. Gone is the trepidation of the last voyage, gone the dread of seasickness! Woe unto the “gobs!” We are the envied midshipmen and there is nothing to hinder our course. “Yo! Ho! Ho! And a bottle of rum!” (Bay rum, naturally.) The following are chosen to pilot us through the second year: President, Frank Straus; Vice-President, William Cooke; Secretary, Jeanette Sidenburg; Treasurer, Robert Moseley; Reporter, Carol Littig; Historian, Thelma Byrd. Under them we progress rapidly and find time to give a Hallowe’en Dance. Great glee on board! Having gained practically all the knowledge possible, we scorn to let exams worry us, and, indeed, pity those who do. It is not surprising, then, to note a slight decrease in the ranks of those desiring shore leave, and a marked increase in the number of mates left behind.

Now we, the ensigns, have set sail on a peaceful sea. We are experienced enough to realize at last what we are, and reach the following conclusions: That all “gobs” suffer from an inferiority complex and are painfully conscious of it; that the midshipmen suffer from a superiority complex, and are unashamed of it; that ensigns are endowed with a more or less mediocre complex and realize it; and that the “old salts” are subject to an attack of egomania, and little resist it. Soon after leaving port we elect these officers: President, Robert Moseley; Vice-President, Josephine August; Secretary, Grace Ashton; Treasurer, Irving Held; Reporter, Sue Cooke McClure; Historian, James Hill. No sooner is the election over than a seemingly endless round of dances and meetings begin. To the outsider these may seem wearisome and unnecessary; to us it means high school life at its best. When the middle of our course is reached, a certain ecstasy sweeps over our minds. At this time our officers declare a Stunt Night. A snappy pirate play is presented, and the various skits are witty and quite in accordance with our mounting spirits. All the while the thought uppermost in our minds is the fact that we, ensigns of 1930, will be the "old salts" of 1931—the Senior Class of John Marshall High School! Happy thought!

Shore leaves are over. Ah me! We are about to embark on our last cruise. Our ship, the Marshallite, a beautiful blue and white vessel, calls to us over the waves; Miss Benton christens her (with what?), and we literally swarm up the gang planks. We rush headlong into the business of launching our ship, and amid a great deal of confusion and chaos, we manage to gather our wits about us enough to conduct a vigorous and exciting election. By popular consent the President is Irving Held; the Vice-President, Frances Dorin; the Secretary, Josephine August; the Treasurer, Grace Ashton; the Reporter, Mary Anne Guy; the Historian, Ellen Barnard. They easily fit their dignified offices, and under their leadership we accomplish many things. The Senior Class having been organized, the all-important question of the first dance occupies the mind of every Senior. At this time a rumor of a mutiny below deck reaches us. On investigation, it is discovered that there is some agitation among the crew concerning sports on board. This is quickly suppressed, and the command, "As you were," given. On Tuesday, the last day before the Thanksgiving shore leave, after the presentation of baskets, a dance is given in the Wythe gym. The ship fairly rocks, and there is much whoopee on board. It is one of those get-together affairs that puts everybody in good spirits for leaves. Time flies swiftly for us now, and one event follows another in rapid succession. Of course, there is the Christmas play, a colorful event, long anticipated. After this there is a rush to the Wythe gym, for Mr. Harwood is giving a dance for the Seniors and the alumni. Here we meet all our old friends, and the time goes all too fast. The dance is a big success and the music divine.

After Christmas we are all in the throes of suspense—awful suspense. How many of our crew will reach port in safety? Of course, some of them will remain as post-graduates; but the others? There is little time for remorse, however, for our social calendar is well filled with clubs, cadet hops, plays, The Monocle, and the pictures for the Annual (Oh, anguish untold!), and stories for The Record, and last, but alas! not least, our lessons. The operetta is a big success, and the trip down the James goes over in a big way. These events will always be happy memories.

Our last voyage is over. It has been a wonderful experience, and we, the crew, hate to disembark. Although our trials and joys have been many, the class of '31 has come to port in a blaze of glory with colors flying. We appreciate the far-reaching and lasting influence on our lives which John Marshall has exerted, with its understanding teachers, its ready sympathy in times of distress, its pride in our successes, and its striving for better. With all our souls, we love you, cherish your ideals, and uphold your standards, John Marshall! Although we depart in 1931 with mixed emotions of joy and keen regret, we shall keep a certain indefinable part of you with us always.

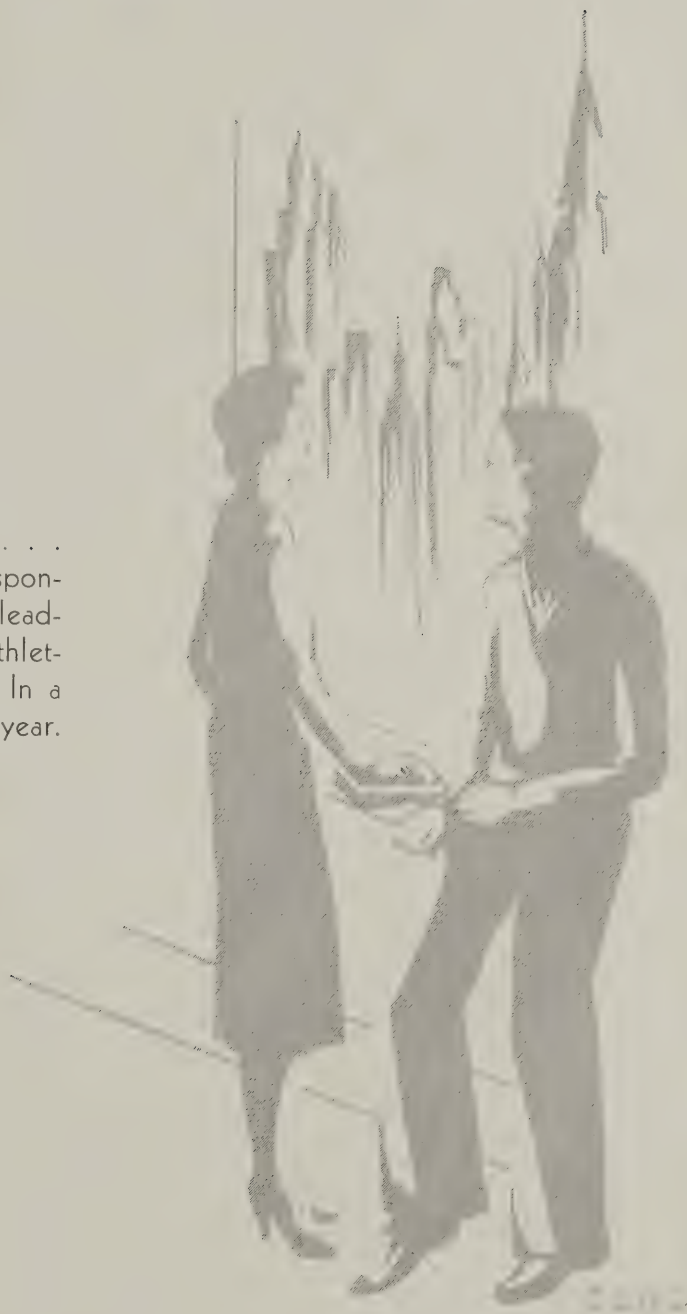

ELLEN BARNARD.

Junior Class History

WE, THE JUNIORS, salute the worthy readers of THE MARSHALLITE and our fellow-classmen.

The following dates are some of the highlights in our class history:

November 4: Greatest variety vaudeville in history of John Marshall by Junior-Sophomore Classes.

November 12: Officers met to discuss the fickleness of man.

December 5: Junior-Sophomore Dance was such a success that Miss Peple had great difficulty in keeping out non-members.

December 17: Radio program by all-star Junior gentlemen cast. It was at this time that Mr. Harwood, attending our meeting, discovered the talents of Mr. Stanley Hague who was afterwards featured in the operetta.

January 20: Night club entertainment by Juniors who knew!

February 24: Class officers met in "bull session."

March 27: "The Knave of Hearts" stole tarts and hearts. Characters from the ancient Mother Goose Rhyme paraded in all their regal splendor before an appreciative audience and then adjourned to the Wythe building for the Junior-Senior Dance.

After this our heads were filled with thoughts of future graduation, stirred by Miss Henson, who informed those who are to be sophisticated Seniors next fall. The others, poor things, were sufficiently "squelched."

Class Officers

The History of the Freshman Class

THE FRESHMEN didn't seem to realize that they had dropped anchor in John Marshall as a body until a meeting was called in the George Wythe cafeteria by Mr. Fowlkes. Miss Stephenson was elected sponsor. The first Friday in every month was pronounced the day of meeting. At the first meeting, which was held on October 9, 1930, officers were nominated; during the following week the voting was carried on by ballot. The officers elected were: Otis Lumpkin, president; Bernice Smith, vice-president; Elizabeth Strange, secretary; Margaret Lockwood, treasurer; Ann Sweeney, reporter; Anne Thompson, historian. Strange to say, all the officers hailed from Northside Junior High.

On the first of January the Freshman Class suffered a great loss. Our president, Otis Lumpkin, moved to Washington. Although we are sorry to lose Otis, we are sure that Bernice Smith will fill his place successfully.

At the November meeting it was decided that the class should go on a hike to Bryan Park. We had a fine time until it began to rain, but some people would say that this only added excitement. Anyhow the rain couldn't "down" our spirits.

In December, during the Christmas holiday, Margaret Lockwood, the treasurer, invited us to her home for an afternoon of fun. We all had a delightful time. Ask someone who was there about the "Mystic Circle."

But troubles must come, and I believe the worst one for almost everybody is exams which always break in on the fun. We Freshmen looked forward to this "Reign of Terror" with fear and trembling. Just think, our first exams at John Marshall!

As many of the Freshmen joined the Sophomore class, it was hard for us to organize, but we have high hopes for the spring and for next year. We are planning an entertainment and several hikes which we hope will be more successful than anything we have attempted so far.

Early in January we had a campaign on for new members, and Miss Stephenson offered a pin for the person who added the most names to our roll.

This may not seem interesting to some, but remember we're just Freshmen! Give us time and we'll do great things.

MILITARY

COMMANDANT

CAPTAIN JOHN G. FOLKES
ASST. COMMANDANT

John Marshall

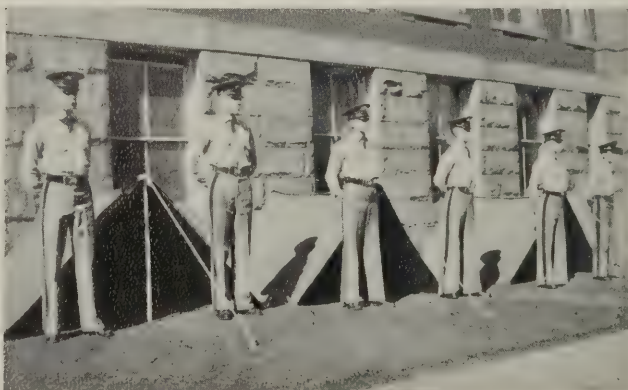

THE congestion and irregular conditions of the preceding years being relieved by the opening of the Thomas Jefferson High School, September, 1930, found the corps ready for the prospect of a very successful year.

As promised last session, the official topcoat was ready for delivery during the summer, and many cadets availed themselves of this opportunity of improving their uniform appearance by purchasing these coats. A sufficient number to justify the corps wearing them for full-dress winter formations, however, were not bought, many cadets requesting that efforts be made to obtain the scarlet-lined cape in order to make the outfit more attractive. The United States Rubber Company was asked to investigate the cost of such a cape, and finally in February brought forth a beautiful cape which was approved for optional wear by the Principal. As this cape could readily be attached to the coats already bought, the rule went into effect that after March 1 all coats would be sold with capes attached—and at a complete price less than what the blouse costs. The real money value in the coat cannot be appreciated until a person has fully examined it; many military men have declared it the equal for service and appearance of coats used at private military schools which sell for three and four times the price. So John Marshall cadets may at last have their red capes, and if they go to another Inauguration or similar winter parade, will not have to borrow from others. The Commandant feels that the benefits of the topcoat from the standpoint of health, appearance, and economy are sufficient to justify each cadet obtaining one.

The appointments this year included for the first time the requirement that all cadets with chevrons must pass on the majority of their classes. A surprisingly few Waterloos were met in this respect, which shows that cadets can make their classes if they try hard enough, for practically twenty-five per cent of the corps holds some rank.

Horsemanship was for the first time made available for the older cadets in the corps who were doing good work in studies and conduct, arrangements being made for using the government horses stabled at the Fair Grounds, under the instruction of a capable cavalry or field artillery officer.

Of probably the greatest importance of work accomplished during '30-'31 is the progress made in citizenship and leadership training, there now being definite charts and reports covering the physical, moral, social, mental, and leadership qualities of every cadet. In this way parents and cadets are informed of the ratings and advised accordingly. This system has been devised after many years of research including a national questionnaire covering the subject. In this connection a cadet, on being honorably discharged, is given a more suitable certificate of training, and also a copy of his last physical examination. The V. M. I. Club of Richmond has donated a trophy to be given each year to the cadet non-com or private who has best demonstrated Sense of Honor, Unselfishness, and All-Round School Spirit. The need of such an award has been felt for many years since the Kohler Medal may be awarded only to a cadet in the graduating class.

There were the two annual inspections by the War Department in November and April, conducted by Lt. Col. Ralph Leavitt. The reports showed that J. M. H. S. was maintaining its usual very high standing with the Federal Government.

The corps joins with all other departments of the school in regretting the departure of Coach Miller, who has assisted each year in sponsoring the Cadet Basket-ball League. It is to be hoped that as facilities improve, the companies may soon be able to enter teams in other sports.

At present the corps is enthusiastic over the possibility of a provisional battalion of J. M. H. S. cadets taking part in the Yorktown Sesquicentennial, and also the establishment of an amateur cadet radio station.

During the session a keen interest and enjoyment has been manifested by all cadets in the work of the corps, a pride in its achievements. All-in-all the corps has had a most satisfactory year.

THE HONOR COURT is an essential and important part of the Cadet Corps, working in coöperation with the administration to maintain high standards of thought and conduct among all cadets. The Court, composed of representatives of each company, the band, and the staff, handles all cases of violation of the principles of the Corps.

THE RIFLE TEAM organized with William Ham as Captain. The first match was the Third Corps Area Intercollegiate Match. The team had a fine average and gained the right to fire in the National Intercollegiate Matches. The high scorers of the team were awarded medals of silver and bronze. This year there were two teams entered, but the second lost out. The value of the Rifle Team is that it makes instructors out of a few boys who can teach the other cadets during drill. The War Department furnished the Corps with enough ammunition to enable every man to fire at least once.

Cadet Hop

IT WAS beautiful—this 1931 Cadet Hop of ours—a magic story-book ball in reality. The girls in fluffy white and the cadets in full dress marched through the stately figure in the glow of pastel lights.

As the figure came to a close, each girl was given a lovely favor to help her remember this delightful occasion—as if she could ever forget it!

*The hour of twelve came much too soon,
The music throbbed a haunting tune.
Each heart held a thrill and a sigh,
When Cadet Hop was over at John Marshall High.*

Junior French Society

WE, RECENTLY INITIATED into the wonders of a new language, are the youngest members of John Marshall's French Society.

Organized for the purpose of aiding our members in acquiring a general familiarity with the language and an ease in speaking it, our aim has been successfully accomplished and we are eager for more knowledge on the subject.

At our meetings French is spoken as much as possible, even if it is a broken, halting French that would astound any true Parisian. This year our programs have included several short sketches and monologues. We enjoyed immensely the lovely peasant songs taught us.

No, we cannot think in French quite yet, as our grown-up brothers and sisters, the Senior French, claim to do, but we are learning!

You will hear more from us in the future!

Senior French Society

ALICE paused in her flight down the corridor. From behind a closed door came strange sounds—grunts and trills mingled with laughter. She asked the White Rabbit what it could be.

"The Senior French Society is holding a meeting," said the White Rabbit.

"What do they do at their meetings?" asked Alice. "Do they make French pastry or read books by Anatole France?"

"Come and see for yourself," said the White Rabbit, as he pushed the door open and very politely allowed Alice to precede him into the room.

It was a class room crowded with people. In the front stood a boy who was reading from a paper. Alice did not know what he was saying, for he was using the strangest language she had ever heard. The audience, however, seemed to enjoy it, for they let forth a steady stream of laughter.

"Do they always do like that?" Alice inquired. "I don't see how Miss Holt and the other teachers can stand it."

"Not always," was the White Rabbit's reply. "Sometimes they have serious talks on French writers and artists, and French customs. The boy you see up there is reading some jokes; that's why everybody is so amused."

"Don't they ever study?" Alice wanted to know.

The Rabbit's whiskers bristled. "Study? Of course they study. This is only a program of entertainment. It's study, too, only not in the classroom way. They have programs every month."

"I bet they have a good time," said Alice wistfully. "I wish I belonged to the Senior French Society; only I don't take French."

"The members have loads of fun. Sometimes," and here the White Rabbit smacked his lips, "they serve refreshments—French's Mayonnaise, of course."

Just then a girl walked to the front and began to speak in French. Alice imagined that she must be a very interesting speaker, if one could understand her. She turned to the White Rabbit to ask him to translate.

But suddenly the White Rabbit pulled out his watch, cried, "Late!" whirled around, and was gone.

Junior Spanish Society

IT'S A GREAT LIFE—if you're taking Spanish!

In this department the teachers have put to practice the old anecdote, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Besides the work covered in our grammars and in the new readers, we devote not a little of our time to learning all that we can about Spain, its people and customs. We learn many lovely little songs, play games, and learn to converse in Spanish. Last fall a delightful Spanish play, "La Moñana de Soe," was presented.

Why take Spanish? There are many reasons. First, take Spanish for the beauty of the language itself. Second, through the medium of the native language, one best understands the literature of a country. Many of our greatest operas owe their success to the Spanish language. And since there is so much interest evidenced in higher music, knowledge of Spanish is not amiss. Moreover, there is always a position in South America for an enterprising young person who has a command of the language. Travel is no longer considered a luxury. Who knows but that some day you may find yourself in old Spain?

So, amigos, come on and enjoy the fun! You'll need that Spanish in gay Madrid!

Senior Spanish Society

THAT worthy organization known as the Senior Spanish Society is composed of all the students in classes from four to eight.

The object of the society is to create an interest in the Spanish Language as well as to learn something about it, which of course is the real reason for studying Spanish.

In addition to the language itself, we learn something of Spain, the customs of the Spanish people, their dress, mode of living, and a few of their contributions to civilization.

The society hopes that each member may learn just a little about Spain, may learn of the industries and the many modern cities. It also hopes that the members catch a glimpse of the Spain of romance, beauty, gaiety, beautiful señoritas and dashing grandes, although it may seem hard, and utterly impossible to some, to associate beautiful music, laughter, wine, and dancing with Spanish Translations and Rules for the Subjunctive!

The Purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

The Platform: Clean Sports
Clean Speech
Clean Scholarship
Clean Living

THIS YEAR has been a successful one for the Hi-Y Club. The Club has endeavored to carry out those principles stated in its purpose and platform.

Christian leadership has been the underlying theme of the meetings this year. The club has entertained speakers who have talked along this line, and devotional talks by the boys themselves have followed this track. As much encouragement as possible has been given to the cultivation of Christian leadership in service for younger clubs, older boys' conferences, in Bible study project, vocational guidance, forums, and in numerous other ways.

The Hi-Y'ers started the year right with a well filled treasury. This was made possible through the efforts of some of the boys in conducting a booth at the State Fair. The treasury was drawn on for various socials, for pages in the Annual, for national and foreign Hi-Y work, and for various and sundry other items. A small amount remains in the treasury to start the next year.

A calendar campaign was conducted by the members of the club. Calendars for 1931 were sold, and the proceeds are to be used in bringing a foreign born boy here this summer for the promotion of international Christian fellowship. Some of the boys proved to be really good salesmen and some——.

A large number of alumni have been back to visit the club during the year. One of them, "Bill" Lawrence, was the guest of the club on several occasions, and his singing and playing were greatly enjoyed. He, as well as our adviser, Mr. Harwood, Jr., was a member of the famous Hi-Y Quartette when a student at John Marshall.

A large quota of new members have been initiated into the club, an extremely huge number of beans have been consumed, meetings have been held with the Girl Reserves, socials have been given—indeed, it has been a successful year!

THE Ace Club Patrol, all goggled and helmeted, took off from the John Marshall Airport last September on a wonderful flight through this session of school life at dear old John Marshall. What a speedy journey we had!

Many "happy landings" were made at "places," and "things" were done without a single "nose dive."

Flying High

"Tid," on her toes, swings a "mean" little plane,
 "Jo" flies behind her with all her might and main.
 Mabel and Olive keep the records all straight;
 Frances (E) makes the diary, and never is late.

"Dot," as a pilot, just cannot be beat;
 Helen stunts a little, for she's strapped in the seat.
 Ann sails along with a cute little smile;
 Frances (M) is right in "form" all the while.

"Lou," while she's tiny, makes her ship do its stuff;
 Roberta does her stunts and never gets rough.
 Miss Torres, our sponsor, helps the squad with vim;
 "Junie" keeps the fleet all ship-shape and trim.

WE CHATTERERS were lucky to have Doris Bowry, a most wonderful President. We know it has been hard work, Doris, and we all love you for it.

Kitty Billups, our Secretary-Treasurer, has the best memory of anybody. She is half of the chattering team of Billups twins.

Dot Pollard, the cute little brunette, was Reporter for half the year. During that time she was very faithful to her task.

What a dull thing club meetings would be without Mae Taylor! She is the life of every party, and as a dancing teacher, if you want to learn the Tap Shag, see Mae.

Ethel Brittingham is a perfect Chatterbox. No matter what time you go out in the hall at school you see (or rather hear) Ethel telling somebody about "just the best time" she had.

A quiet but sweet Chatterer is Virginia Ganzert. Have you heard she was the inspiration for "Baby's Birthday Party Day?"

Mickey Vass is the cute little blonde who always gets the Chatterers a ride to football games.

Margaret Billups and Virginia Rowland are both "A" Company girls. How about it, boys? That's not all; Virginia Rowland is just the best Reporter!

"Which one is the Sponsor?" everyone asks. Sometimes we forget Miss Kay is really a teacher. She's a true Chatterer and we all love her.

Football Captain, Idma Club, answer to a maiden's prayer—that's Junie Smith, our Mascot.

Among the memorable activities of the club during 1930, we shall remember the Progressive Party and Dance at Nunnally's, the Cabin Party at Libby's, the dances Ethel gave us, as well as the Weenie Roast which ended in a dance at the S. P. E. fraternity house at Randolph-Macon. Mae gave us a tea to celebrate her birthday. If you want to know what kind of time we had, just ask any Chatterer.

—Virginia Rowland.

THE CHIC CLUB of 1930-31 will long be remembered in the hearts of those who have worked through the year to maintain the aims of the club.

ANNE COALE—Our red-headed President. Anne was born to be a leader. She is calm, sensible, and has been the guiding hand of the Chic Club.

BOBS ARMITAGE—Our smiling Vice-President. She is truly an ideal girl. I ask you, "Would she make a good advertisement for the Pepsodent Smile?"

JACKIE BRANCH—"Our dancing Secretary." She's simply bubbling over with excitement; always ready for anything different; and a perfect sport.

EMILY MEAD—Our beloved Treasurer. Em is also the club artist. She is famous for her perfect disposition.

VIRGINIA FOX—"Ginny," as she is affectionately called by the Chics, is our "timid soul." That's really a compliment 'cause the type is practically extinct in our club. Ginny doesn't ever say much at meetings, but we bet her thoughts are worth lots more than a penny.

ELIZABETH ORGAIN—"Liz" is one of our "lovely" Chics. We don't know the exact definition of a "lovely" Chic, but if it's something nice, then Liz is it.

DOROTHEA ANDERSON—"Dottie" has been a true friend to all, especially to her Chic sisters. We think of Dottie as one of those "new kind of old-fashioned girls."

GILLET EPPS—"Let," our "baby" Chic, is rather hard to keep up with. It's difficult to tell where she'll crawl next—V. M. I., Hampden-Sydney, or the Moon, but she's always her same, sweet old self.

CORONEL CAFFERY—Better known as "Cokey," and quite an important new member of our club. We attribute her success in gaining so many friends to her originality, sophistication, and ready wit. Cokey is adored by everyone.

SARA HARDING—Our new Chic. She is rather demure, and has a charming personality. We think of Sara lounging on the Chesterfield at Chic meetings, with someone playing the piano, whistling softly just like—have you ever heard a nightingale whistle?

HELEN HARWOOD—Our much beloved Sponsor, was a charter member of the Chic Club. Helen is always interested and willing to help in anything over which we seem enthused.

BILL BOWEN—Our so-called Mascot. Bill is one of these big, blond, he-men, who absolutely dominates our meetings. Bill certainly has been a loyal Mascot to the fifteen Chics!

MASCOT—No other than Captain Gerald Luck, of "D" Company, a proud boast of the cadets and a doubly proud boast of the Duckies.

EVELYN KNAUB—Just "Nubby", our President. May there always be someone to supply her with chewing-gum. She's had a big job for such a little girl.

JOSEPHINE AUGUST—Our attractive Vice-President, hasn't had a chance to do her duty, as "Nubby" has been on the job always; but she has made up for it by being one of the most prominent and popular girls at J. M.

ELIZABETH ENGLISH—Secretary. Ever heard anyone say he didn't like "Liz"? No, and you never will. She wins friends everywhere she goes and holds them.

MARIE DULING—The pretty little blonde dues-digger. She has it in her to make a big success of anything.

KATHRYN HENING—"Kitty", the Reporter, with her dimples, fascinating personality and sweet disposition, makes everyone love her.

FRANCES BATES—Who likes everybody and is liked by everybody. Curly hair, freckles, laughter, and happy-go-lucky disposition make up Frances.

ROSE HENING—Full of pep, always in a good humor, just the best kind of a sport, good to look at—all of these describe Rose.

"DICKIE" LAUGHON—A different personality spells "Dickie". She's just the same good-natured Dickie to everyone.

ANN MAHONEY—She seems to have everything! Good looks, a dimple or two, friends galore, likeable disposition, and what originality!

HELEN MOLER—A very cute girl is "Moler", with her wit and chatter. Here's hoping "Moler" will dance through life as she has danced through high school.

CAROLINE ROBINSON—"Precious things come in small packages." "Gentlemen prefer blondes." Both of these hold good for Caroline, a most popular little girl.

MARYLOU SPARKS—Known for her pretty eyes and shy beauty. Petite and so very attractive; just the kind of a girl you want around.

Eddie Gill is Captain-elect for 1931. Good luck, Eddie. Charlie Frost, our President, is much interested in dramatics and played with Louis Martin in "Second Childhood," a comedy presented by the Dramatic Club. Charlie is also President of the Dramatic Club; our Sponsor, Mr. Gimenez, is Assistant Director.

Albert "Peter" Franklin, an unassuming member, is a true Gamma Tau, well liked by everyone who knows him and a friend of friends.

Henry Davis, a good egg if there ever was one, was out of school up to February, but showed his interest in the club by taking part in every activity.

Junie East is the big soldier in our little army. You know Junie, who, with his sister, made such a hit in The Monocle Review? Well, he's still with us, and don't be surprised if you hear that fifty million women have fallen in love with his crooning voice. No, it isn't crooning, but it has the same effect.

"Come back here, Jo, and make your bow before the reader." Jo (August) is our Mascot, and a bit bashful about appearing before so many people. She is one of the attractive members of the "Duckie" Club and—but I can hardly do her justice with words. IMPS! IMPS! IMPS! They cannot begin to tell you the doings of a bunch so worthy of their name. Everyone knows that an imp is a sly and clever goblin who chooses the early morning hours to go abroad and play his pranks.

Like these clever goblins the Imps found a secret corner in Miller & Rhoads' Tea Room early last May and elected the leaders of their clan. Beth Bickers was to lead them and Martha Saunders to help her. Sarah Worsham was elected to handle the money, while Virginia Ebel was to keep the secret records. Mary Jane Levering was chosen Reporter.

The fall term was greeted with much enthusiasm, and the Imps banded themselves together for action. With Miss Virginia Sydnor as the guiding hand they plunged into school activities. When The Monocle Contest was held, the Imps battled furiously and happily with the other clubs for leadership in obtaining subscriptions. As a result, the circulation of The Monocle increased.

Our Sports Calendar shows good attendance at all football, basket-ball, and baseball games. Perhaps the most enjoyable event of the year was the trip to Newport News, even though little Imps don't enjoy the kind of weather they have at the shipbuilding city.

The Imps' social activities turned out very successfully. They were never-to-be-forgotten house parties at Imp Eboe's lovely cabin on the James. There were delightful bridge parties at which bridge was not the only subject of conversation. Their most enjoyable event was the Midwinter Dance, and, needless to say, they all had a big time.

The Imps also entered the commercial world and superintended the memorable Pie-and-Cake Sale which provided much fun and helped along the question of finances.

Believe it or not, along with all these other activities, the Imps found plenty of time to indulge in studying their much loved(?) lessons.

THE MONX CLUB of John Marshall High School started things off with a "bang" when they returned to school in September. Gerald Luck, as President, started the club to work right away. Howard (Fatso) Gills assisted Gerald in noble fashion. The offices of Secretary and Treasurer were filled by John Meredith and Albert Wilkinson.

The first thing to come before the club was the problem of filling the places of the members who graduated. Fred Bates, William Grinnan, Hugh Cardoza, Edgar Andrews, and Thomas McKittrick—boys most worthy of bids—then became Monx. It was decided that there would be no Mascot this term. Captain James C. Anthony kindly gave his consent to be the Faculty Adviser.

This year the members decided not to have the maroon and white sweaters as in years before. Instead, they selected a monogram to be worn under the coat. These monograms proved to be very effective.

The club gave its Christmas Dance at the Westwood Country Club. The dance was a success, and everyone had a fine time. At the dance were many home from college for the holidays. Several of the Monx alumni were among them.

The Monx have been especially interested in golf and bowling. Billy McGrath proved to be the professional golfer of the club and much is expected of him in this sport. There are several other members in the club this year who may be future golf champions. A bowling team composed of Luck, Gills, McKittrick, Cavedo, and Meredith entered the bowling league of the school. The team handed in some fine scores and was in the race from start to finish.

Probably the best of all the club activities were the last two events of the season: The house party and boat trip. On both occasions, everyone had a most enjoyable time. However, the pleasure was marred slightly by sad good-byes—especially on the boat trip. With this joy and happiness the Monx Club of John Marshall High School closed the year '30-'31.

MISS LAMBERT, our sporting little Sponsor, has proven her worth by her ready coöperation and willingness to "lend a helping hand."

Horse Harris is our lively Mascot. Along with being an ideal Mascot, Horse is a Pi Delta Chi and Captain of "B" Company.

Helen, our President, has won a place not to be usurped in the hearts of her fellow-members. Her sterling qualities and good leadership are envied by many.

Virginia, our Vice-President, is another joy maker. She furnishes the meetings with that essential "spice of life."

Ann is our efficient Secretary. It is she who performs double duties, penning minutes and bawling us out.

Elizabeth, better known as "Libby," is a real chum. No wonder "Libby" smiles; she's our dues collector.

Have you seen Steurt, our able Reporter, rushing around the halls with pencil and pad looking for something to report? Although her manner may appear formal and distant, she is quite friendly when you know her.

Francis is the "Thomas" of our club. If silence is golden, "Frankie" will never be rich.

Liz Lehman is an accomplished musician and has often entertained the club with popular recitals.

Sparkling over with fun and laughter, full of vivacity—this is our Ina. Just mention the word sing and she trills forth the latest in her repertoire.

Helen Soles is the hostess of our club. If ever the whole club turns out for a meeting, they make it at this popular member's house.

Dependable, dignified, and of charming personality, Mary is one of those few-and-far-between girls, whom one meets only now and then. When Mary deigns to speak, it is well worth listening.

Dorothy Atwell has earned a place in the hearts of all by her sweet smile and genial disposition. She is full of fun and an all-round "good sport."

THE PEP CLUB was organized in John Marshall High School in 1918, and since that time has endeavored to live up to its high standard. We have entered whole-heartedly into the activities of the school—not only in the past year but in the past twelve years.

My! Have we a Pep-y President this year? I'll say! And besides being an efficient leader, "Lib" possesses the "gift of gab."

Knowing how to choose the proper officers means much to an organization, and a great deal of the success of the Pep Club during the past year is due to the "Wright" (Mary) Secretary, and the "Wright" (Maxwell) Reporter.

Originality, individuality, and "taking" ways characterize our Treasurer, "Kitty" Maynard.

Then there's Jane Bock, who embodies the subtle charm which sophistication and attractiveness bring.

And "Jerry" Brown. She's a "Saint" (Mascot) and we're sure she looks the part.

Did you ever see Liz' Cooke without that cute little "B" Company Lieutenant? We'll 'nitate him into the "Peps," Liz, if you'll jus' say the word.

Is there anyone who has not yet fallen under the spell of Frances Dorin's magic charm?

Our "Pep" of high ideals, very quaint and charming, is Miss Zoë Powell.

Garnett Smith, who wins with her smile and charms with her agreeable manner, is a "Pep" of whom we are proud.

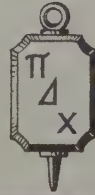

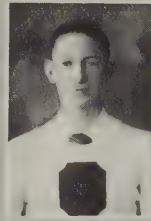

And Lucille Tiller, our vivacious brunette. We just bet she'd win a beauty prize any day.

We are greatly pleased in the selection of our Sponsor, Miss Mary Maxwell Brockenbrough, and our Mascot, Mr. "Studie" Conrad. Our charming Sponsor has endeared herself to all the members by her whole-hearted enthusiasm and her club spirit. Our attractive Mascot, despite his many activities, has cooperated with interest in all of our affairs and proved his loyalty to the "Pep Club."

In concluding, may we wish that the Pep Club of '32 will carry on in the same spirit of loyalty, coöperation, and enthusiasm, that has characterized the "Peps" of the past in living up to their high ideals.

ONE afternoon back in April, 1930, five boys, Aubrey Frayser, Johnny Kellogg, Dan Buckelew, Ernest Bullington, and Johnny Friend, assembled in Room 111 with the idea of forming a club. Out of their plan grew the Pi Delta Chi Club, an organization the name of which has come to mean much at John Marshall High School.

Other members soon were taken in and officers elected. These were: President, Aubrey Frayser; Vice-President, Lawrence Hicks; Secretary, Johnny Kellogg, and Treasurer, Johnny Friend. They served until June when a new election was held. During these first months, Aubrey Frayser assumed the strenuous duties of first President most capably.

Mr. James C. Harwood, Jr., who consented to be the Sponsor, gave the boys wonderful guidance, and they have thought of him as "one of the gang." It is hoped that he will continue to serve the Club in years to come.

Miss Jerry Brown, a Pep, was the charming first Mascot. Many were the good times that she gave the Club.

Among the social activities enjoyed by the club were the boat trip down the James River, and the first Alumni dance, given in November at the Westwood Country Club.

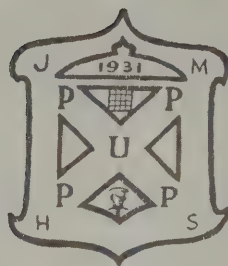

At Thanksgiving the Club presented a basket of food in the Senior Assembly.

There is one notable thing about the Pi Delta Chi. The members are drawn together and made to feel that they really are fraternity brothers by some indefinable force which is attributable only to the fine Delta spirit which pervades the entire group of people connected with the organization.

Johnny Friend, as President, led the Club during the year just past. The members feel that they owe him a debt of gratitude which can be paid only by remaining loyal to Pi Delta Chi, the thing that he would want them to do.

Miss Elizabeth Armitage, known and loved around school as Bobs, has exerted the Mascot influence over every Delta this year. The Chics have spared her long enough to attend some of the Sunday afternoon meetings, well known for the orderly manner in which they are conducted, that is, when she is present. With the loss of Bobs as Mascot, the Club will have to search far and wide to find another so winning.

This account must end somewhere, so let it end in saying that if you do not understand what is meant by the Delta spirit, you can get at least some conception of it when you see two or three Deltas, mostly sage officers in the Cadet Corps, holding hands and skipping along the ancient sanctified corridors of John Marshall High School.

THIS is the first time we have entered these pages, and we have been having quite a struggle with ourselves between modesty and self-expression. Modesty appears to have won. Fred Cox, our President, went into a huddle with himself and some others, and from this fertile brain this organization has spread forth. This happened last October. Since then we have been spreading ourselves. Like all things in the beginning, affairs were in a rather muddled state.

However, affairs were straightened, meetings held, officers elected, and we started toward our goal of high and happy good times and school spirit. Our Sponsor was selected from Wythe, and what a Sponsor she has proven to be! Although Miss Philips is Sponsor of the Sophomore Class, she is one of the hardest workers in the group, setting a hard, fast, go-getting, obstruction-killing pace for us.

Our Fraternity Sweetheart, the first we've noticed so far worthy of such a title, is that vivacious Pep, Frances Dorin. She's another gloom-chaser, one of those "we should worry" persons. She's willing to put her shoulder to the wheel and work as hard or harder than the next. She's one of the reasons the club is what it is today.

The club has been at all football games in a body when possible, and as many as could were present to support our cheer leader, the same Fraternity Sweetheart we have mentioned above. We also took an active part in the bowling league.

Freddy, our President, is the kind of person who says, "I don't know," but goes ahead and does it anyhow. He was a lieutenant in "E" Company in his spare time, and was a good one according to all reports. He yelled at the football games and bowled at the alleys. He was one of the founders of the club and did everything to further its ideals.

Mike, the Vice-President, otherwise known as the red-headed wonder or the chevronless captain, was a man we all looked up to. He was that tall. He's another member who did everything he could for the club, and then some more.

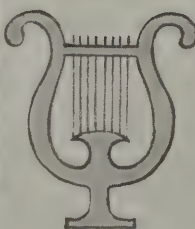

Tommy, the Secretary, a hard-working sergeant of "E" Company, always had his minutes on time if he had to write them at the same time he was reading them.

Everett, the custodian of the purse strings, was a very able one. He held his job well although it was a hard job. Try collecting dues for a pastime and see how hard it is.

Bob, the Reporter, was one who let his self-expression rise above his modesty when writing for The Monocle. Again we say, try it yourself some time.

The club carries on with unabated enthusiasm toward higher and better goals for the good of our staunch friend, John Marshall High School.

Dear Alumni:

It's time again for our annual letter, and, as Reporter for the club, I will try to acquaint you with our activities for 1930-'31.

We were once more under the sure and helpful hand of Miss Edith Sydnor. She is just plain "Miss Billy" to us, and parts of speech won't describe what she has done.

Ed Hardy, as President, set an example of dependability which went a long way toward making this bunch stick together.

We made no mistake in having for our Mascot Miss Jerry Brown. Jerry had no trouble in becoming a true Saint, and that's a compliment in any man's language.

Carter Vaden "held the bag" this year. As Treasurer, he handled the bank account very admirably.

Reggie and Paul were always together. They have been known to stop traffic at Fifth and Broad while they harmonized on some new song hit.

Billy Nichols always has a wise crack handy. And listen, they are not really wise cracks; it is just the way he says them.

We didn't see so much of Billy Crawford this year. All his spare time seemed to be taken up with a certain bit of fun.

I never was able to get very close to Burwell as the women always seemed to be three feet deep around him.

I don't have to tell you much about Walter. If you knew Olin, then all that is necessary to say is that Walter is his brother—and how!

No organization would be complete without its quiet, unassuming but dependable member. This description fits none other than Tommy Baker.

The club has enjoyed a successful year, taking part in the usual school activities as well as various social functions.

Sincerely,

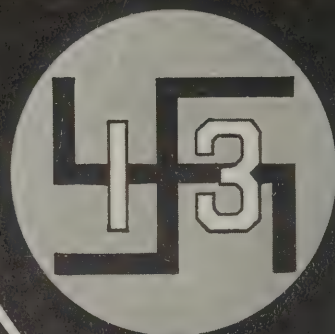

THE REPORTER.

P. S.—The guy who has written the rest of this naturally wouldn't say anything about himself. However, Hilton is as fine a Saint as we have had and is a chap who is friendly to everybody.

Sincerely,

ED.

Forum Club

THE FORUM CLUB of John Marshall High School was reorganized in September, 1930.

Due to its unusual size the club was divided into five sections. A constitution for the section was drawn up by a committee, and in accordance to the constitution a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Parliamentary Critic, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Reporter were elected.

The theory of Public Speaking and Reading was studied and the knowledge put into practice. Speeches were given and analyzed in class with due consideration to delivery and composition. Debating, both in theory and practice, was taken up, and all members learned to argue intelligently. After-dinner speeches and readings were given at various times during the term.

The meetings of the Forum Club have been profitable to the members who have kept before them a serious and definite purpose: To produce better speakers, and to teach the members how to listen appreciatively and intelligently.

The Harwood Literary Society

FOR the past few years, there has flourished at John Marshall High School an organization known as the Harwood Literary Society, the purpose of which is to stimulate interest among pupils in better speech. Here we have an opportunity to learn to express ourselves in the clear-cut, interesting manner which commands the attention and admiration of the public everywhere; here we become acquainted with parliamentary law, a knowledge of which is indispensable to the person who leads a life which takes him into public gatherings. Members of the society, after a year's course in Public Speaking, are free from the bashfulness and embarrassment which characterize the unseasoned speaker.

When the day comes for us to leave John Marshall High School and all its activities—clubs, athletic teams, debating societies, dramatic groups—we feel sure that The Harwood Literary Society will be sorely missed by those of us who step down from the platform of school life to take our places in the world.

Debaters

ON FRIDAY, March 27, the annual debate between the Van Vort and Marshall Debating Societies was held. The subject for the State Debate this year is "Resolved: That the Circuit Court judges and members of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia shall be appointed by the governor, subject to the confirmation of the General Assembly." Irving Held, Robert Glidden, and Charles Ryland upheld the affirmative of this question; Helen Caulfield, Mary Mills, and William Grenoble, the negative. The decision of the judges was rendered in favor of the affirmative.

Helen Caulfield, Charles Ryland, Robert Glidden, and Irving Held were chosen by the judges to represent the school in debates with other schools throughout the State. On April 23, Helen Caulfield and Robert Glidden will uphold the affirmative in our annual debate with Petersburg High in Petersburg. Charles Ryland and Irving Held will debate for the negative against a team which Petersburg will send to Richmond. The winners in these debates will be eligible to compete with other successful debaters in the contest at the University of Virginia in May.

Grateful appreciation is extended to Mr. Garrett, the coach, and to Miss Branch, head of the English Department, for their coöperation and keen interest in the work of the two societies.

OUR aim is to promote debating and public speaking among John Marshall boys. This year the society has had great success. We have grown from a small to a large group of boys, all taking part in enthusiastic debates and discussions. Besides debating within the Society, we have taken part in an annual debating contest between the girls' and boys' societies. A debating team to represent John Marshall in the inter-school debates is chosen from the two societies. In short, the Marshall Debating Society has had a most successful year.

THE Van Vorts are glad to report a most successful year. We owe our interesting meetings to the hearty coöperation of all the members.

There have been five debates so far this term on light and serious subjects, for we believe in variety. All of them have shown real talent, preparation, and spirit. We have had no Sponsor this year, and though we regret the loss of Miss Gary's help, our members are taking a more active part in the work of the club by making their own decisions and comments.

We are now working on the State Debate. The question for 1931 is: "Resolved, That Circuit Court Judges and members of the Court of Appeals of Virginia be appointed by the Governor, subject to the confirmation of the General Assembly." The deep interest manifested in this major event predicts that the Van Vort team will merit the judges' favorable decision.

WE HAVE created life; we have set upon the blank stage characters who lived and laughed and wept and sang for the brief lives we gave them. We have seen that all life is a mask; so we have laughed while we wept, and sang when we were sad. For each day we drink deep of the dark cup of life, and we taste tragedy and comedy . . .

This year we have turned to the Laughing Muse for our inspiration. Surfeited with Milton's heavy iambic pentameters and Shakespeare's Elizabethanisms, we chose Covington and Simonsons' farce, "Second Childhood," as our annual production.

Although there was splendid acting and directing, the play left something to be desired. In performing it there was no real achievement, no tangible betterment of the standards we have set heretofore.

The quality of the workshop productions has been greatly improved. We point with satisfaction to "Little Nell;" "Neither Maid, Wife nor Widow;" Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" (a reading); a student play, "The Reading of the Vicar of Wakefield," and a goodly array of monologues, teas, and other social fripperies . . .

INTO the Tournament at Williamsburg we entered this tragic little one-act play. It is a dramatization of Oscar Wilde's tale of the pathetic little hunch-back who had never gazed upon his ugliness, and who loved the Infanta of Spain. This will be something to remember always, this little play etched upon pale ivory with a pen of jasper.

So we have known these lives, loved these loves, laughed these laughters. And behind our masks we have smiled secretly, for we have created.

THE MONOCLE is a lusty infant. Although it is the baby of the publication group, it is a precocious baby. In its brief two years and a half of life, it has become a real influence in the school. Critics have praised it and spoken of it as one of the best high school papers in the country.

The Monocle has won a high place in every contest it has entered. A huge loving-cup in the trophy case testifies to its victory as the best A class high school paper in the South, an honor awarded it by the Southern Interscholastic Press Association.

A very good record for a child just past the teething age, don't you think?

WE OF The Record, at least among ourselves, review this term now gone as one of success. Since the foundation of The Record in 1909, each succeeding editor and staff seem to have been striving more and more toward that quality of polite sophistication so essential in modern literature. The present staff flatters itself that, with the able assistance of all concerned, it has kept up the standard, and even added new luster to it. To do so involved the sacrifice of much good material which failed to come quite up to standard, and a good deal of careful work on the part of the staff. [The editor is informed that he has the only working staff in years.]

Strivings after this point of polish and brilliance have led to some new departures in policy and business. We have run what is believed to be the first serial story ever published in a scholastic paper; we have, to permit of greater originality and flexibility in writing, cut down the closeness of subject-choice in the monthly form sheets issued by the staff; we have tried to have a back-bone of connection running through all the issues in choosing related subjects for publication from month to month; we have, at the inspiration of Mr. Beverley, introduced a club page and directory, found just inside the front cover; and, finally, we have attained a spirit of cooperation among members of the staff seldom paralleled. Manuscript, before approval, was read and inspected by at least two members of the staff, corrected and searched for mistakes, and twice corrected in proof. Manuscript selected was in all cases submitted to the higher-ups for approval, and it is perhaps a credit to the judgment of the staff that no matter has yet been turned down.

As a whole, the staff looks back upon an active and profitable year.

Football, 1930

THE 1930 JOHN MARSHALL FOOTBALL ELEVEN battled its way through its entire season to uphold the records of all previous Blue and White gridders. Under the efficient supervision and leadership of Coach "Demon" Dave Miller, the Justices won their first seven games only to see their hopes for the State Championship blasted by Newport News High School when the Shipbuilders won the Virginia State Thanksgiving Prep Classic in the Tidewater city by a hard fought score of 8 to 0. This game left the State crown disputed between several high schools. The Richmond Prep Championship also remains unsettled due to the cancellation of the games with McGuire's and Saint Christopher's.

The opening game with Portsmouth High gained a victory for the Justices by a count of 22 to 0. Heavy penalties totaling 165 yards prevented the Blue and White's score from being greater. Central High, of Washington, fell as easy prey before the mighty machinery. The Senate City eleven paraded the oval to the five yard line by passes and trick plays, but thereafter, in spite of all their strength and skill, they could not penetrate the Miller line to be the first to score against the Richmond team. Petersburg furnished thrills and threats when they hauled the ball to the ten yard marker several times, but were unsuccessful in registering a six-point tally against the Marshallites. The final whistle found John Marshall 6, Petersburg 0. The following week the young Jacket freshmen of Randolph-Macon were returned home bearing a 33-0 upset.

The tide in the victorious marches was checked when the new age limit rule was put into effect. Four of John Marshall's main clogs were retired to the showers for the remainder of the season. They were: Alvin Holland, Cecil Usher, Bill Alexander, and Frankie Barnes.

With a diminished team, the boys entrained for Roanoke where they proved to be the best by a count of 33-6 over the 1928 State Champions. The first scoring of the opponent came in the third quarter, when a mountaineer faced and darted tacklers for sixty-five yards.

After two weeks of idling, the undefeated team turned back the Cadet eleven from Benedictine by a narrow margin of 13-0. A week later seven thousand football fans tripped to Tate Field to witness the Justices seek revenge on the Maury eleven of Norfolk. Inspired by the greatest coach of Virginia Prep Schools, Dave Miller, a thousand cheers, and a large cadet band and corps, the Millerites conquered the down-staters by a marker of 13-6.

To Newport News goes the honor of being the only squad to overpower the Richmond ball carriers. A special chartered train carried a thousand students including the corps in uniform and the cadet band. Playing before 9,000 half-frozen fans, John Marshall was unable to outclass their annual opponents. Scoring a touchdown in the second quarter and a safety in the closing period, the Newport News gridders gained the victory that marred the Justices' clear record.

In the seven games, the Chiefs scored 140 points while allowing their opponents 21 points. The feature of the team was the running and skill of the backfield. Led by Captain Junie Smith, the backfielders carried out all signals in the timely click which aided greatly in the scoring. Charlie Shade's punting and passing gained him State fame. Covington, Black, Pullen, and Kirkpatrick were other ball carriers that turned the football light on John Marshall. The front wall consisted of Bill Bowen, Jack Overton, Wilson Hargrave, Crenshaw, ends; Stewart Conrad, Hecker, Vaden, and Tolson, tackles; Eddie Gill and Roscoe Greenway, centers. Jimmie Turner managed the team. His assistants were Apperson and Vaden.

THE 1931 Basket-ball Squad fought fast and hard to overthrow eleven quints out of the sixteen encountered. Led by Captain Smith, the Marshallites won eleven games from the State's strongest squads. Three of their defeats came within the final minutes of the closing whistle.

JUNIE SMITH, Captain

In the opening game the Justices faced the skillful freshmen from Randolph-Macon. The young Jackets won by a count of 54 to 21. For the next four games the Millerites coöperated timely to defeat Petersburg, V. M. I. freshmen, Woodberry Forest, and Hargrave Military Academy.

High scoring by Herman Taylor and Robert Ridout led the Richmonders to victory over the Hampden-Sidney freshmen, Woodrow Wilson, twice, and Petersburg High School.

Benedictine fought through their city prep games undefeated to claim the city championship. Playing before more than two thousand enthusiastic court fans, the Justices fell short of thirteen points of beating the Cadets. Next, the Blue and White machinery bade fair to capture the silver cup by defeating Saint Christopher's and Thomas Jefferson; but again the Justices fell victim to the Benedictine sharp shooters by a margin of 34 to 28. In the extra period the Cadets registered three goals in quick succession to claim all city basket-ball honors.

The closing game found the Blue and White squad fighting Maury High, of Norfolk. Again the Millerites held the lead until the final quarter, but the tall Commodores rushed the baskets to register a score of 34 to 25.

The South Atlantic Tournament was the closing game of the Marshallites' schedule. Facing one of the best teams in the contest, John Marshall fought hard but to no avail. They were eliminated by a score of 45 to 27.

Coach Dave Miller's squad consisted of Taylor, Smith, Ridout, Atkinson, Grossman, Austin, Perlstein, and Greenway.

UNDEFEATED! Baseball at John Marshall reached its climax last year when the diamond-clad squad passed through a nineteen-game schedule without tasting defeat. The team that holds the honor of being the Justices' first undefeated nine ran its total to twenty-six consecutive victories in the last year and a half. They remain unsurpassed in their ability as ball players.

Captained by Waddell Stewart and assisted by the valuable coaching of Dave Miller, the squad opened its season by seeking revenge upon Augusta Military Academy by a count of 20-4. The win over the Cadets marked the first in the last five attempts. Victories over V. M. I. "Rats," Staunton Military, and Augusta, together with leading the young Generals composing the Washington and Lee freshmen by a score of 3-2 when rain stopped the encounter, made the annual Easter trip to the Valley a success.

WADDELL STEWART, Captain

In the majority of the games, the Blue and White nine got an early lead which proved to set the way to victory, but only in two contests did the boys find it hard to overthrow their opponents. The toughest games of the season were with Blackstone and William and Mary freshmen. In the Cadet game at Blackstone the Justices were out-powered by a 4-2 score in the late part of the sixth. Their comeback was the result of timely hitting of Stewart, Shade, and Wunsch. Henry Taylor gained fame by his hard pitching during the game. Again it was the masterful hurling of "Head" Taylor that helped the Richmonders to defeat the freshmen of William and Mary. After timely batting by Smith, Shade, Stewart, Barnes, and Wunsch to even the count to four-all in the eighth, Wilson hit homer with two men on base to close the game with a score of 7 to 4 in favor of the Millerites.

The superior pitching of Henry Taylor, Alvin Holland, and Wunsch were big factors in the success of the undefeated nine. Taylor took the honors with nine wins in as many starts. Holland with 5 and Wunsch with 4 were the rating of the next two moundsmen.

John Yorke, who did the receiving of the ball behind the home plate, held the base-stealing of the opponents to a low number. Waddy Stewart held down the hot corner of third base. Charlie Shade at short stop coöperated timely with Junie Smith at second to out-number their opponents in double plays. Herman Wunsch possessed the plot around the first base sack.

The outer garden consisted of Frank Barnes, Bo Wilson, Woody Andrick, and Billy Pitts. They proved to be capable fly chasers.

Bo Wilson and Waddy Stewart hit well above the 500 per cent mark to claim the slugging honors. Shade, Barnes, Smith, Wunsch, and Yorke ranked closely

Most assists were made by Charlie Shade. Wunsch at first base put the largest number of outs.

THE BLUE AND WHITE flashes raced down the cindered lanes to retain all proud honors previously gained by the Justices' cindermen. The squad, coached by Hugh Ewing, former star of V. P. I. and member of the John Marshall faculty, and "Chunky" Galvin, another faculty member, passed through a successful season that ended with two first honors, three second places, and one third.

Led by Platt Bullard, Henry Taylor, and Carter Haase, the Marshallites raced to victories over McGuire's University School and Maury High of Norfolk. In the Byrd Park contest the Justices took a wide lead by the winning of four first-places: Bullard in the mile; Taylor, the century; Overton, the hurdles; and Haase, the field events. The final count of the meet was: John Marshall, 82; McGuire's, 35. In the Maury meet the Justices were trailing until the last race was run. It was the relay squad composed of Libby, Overton, Taylor, and Peterson that stepped around the path in record time to place the mighty Justices in front by a nosing-out score of 55 to 54.

In the following Tidewater meet held at William and Mary, the Maury men returned strong to take the first award with a count of 42 points. Jefferson of Roanoke placed second with 36½ points. Third place was taken by John Marshall.

Again the Justices suffered a close defeat at the hands of the University of Richmond freshmen in the open lanes at the stadium. William and Mary downed the Blue and White's racers by a wide margin of 69 to 39.

The last encounter of the season, held at Washington on Saturday, May 17, ended with Woodberry Forest, first; J. M. H. S., second.

The feature of the meet was the breaking of several of the national track records in Class "C". Such honors go to Platt Bullard, who stepped off the mile in 4:41½ minutes to hold the national record. His time of 2:01½ minutes for the half-mile tied the previous record.

Haase proved to be a big success at the meet. In the official contest, he threw the speared javelin for a length of 164 feet, 4 inches, to share honors with Sklor, of Massanutten, in holding the national honor. Immediately after the trials, Haase increased his length to 171 feet, 1½ inches, to establish an unofficial national record.

Captain "Head" Taylor paraded the 440-yard dash in fast time of 52½ seconds. The final count stood: Woodberry Forest, 34½; John Marshall, 21½; Eastern High, 20. Eight teams participated in the contest.

Outstanding members of the track squad were: Taylor, Overton, Bullard, Garvin, Haase, Libby, Peterson, Bowden, Saunders, Dew, Hodgers, and Francis. Howard Gills proved to be the efficient manager.

Girls' Basket-ball, 1930-'31

UNDER the superb supervision of Mrs. Frank C. Wood and the laudable leadership of the Co-Captains, Edith Todd and Charlotte Montgomery, the Girls' Basket-ball Squad brought to a close a most successful season, a season which has been unexcelled in sportsmanship as well as in playing ability.

CHARLOTTE MONTGOMERY, Captain

ALMA GIBSON BAKER, Manager

EDITH TODD, Co-Captain

The latter part of September was the time announced for the beginning of practice, and a large crowd of happy girls signed up on the first day. Practice days soon began to roll around regularly, twice each week. The more experienced players exhibited fine sportsmanship in helping the beginners to master the technique of the game.

Soon teams were formed for our intramural season, every girl being placed on a team, and a tournament was arranged. The Pink team, captained by Mary Mills and led by Charlotte Montgomery, were the victors, while the Greens followed closely, captained by Dot Brown and led by Celie Rothenberg. Then when the class games began, enthusiasm ran high, for the Edith Todd Seniors won by only a small margin over the McLaughlin Sophomores. Outstanding among our December activities was Play Day, staged with Thomas Jefferson and Cathedral High School in our own gym. This day was attended with much good spirit and jollity galore. During the holidays, a practice game with the coaches was held. This proved to be quite a success, as the girls came in contact with many of their officials, whom they were to meet later on.

In January we formed two squads: The John Marshall Squad, which was the representative squad, and the High School Squad. The players on the John Marshall

Squad were: Edith Todd, Co-Captain and speedy Forward; Charlotte Montgomery, an accurate aim and our only letter girl back; Dorothy Cole, good Guard; Carolyn Henna, reliable Forward; Marjorie Rogers, steady Guard; Mary Moore McLaughlin, a "one girl team;" Celie Rothenberg, superb Guard; Frances Rowlett, quick Guard; Louise Royer, splendid Center; Louise Taylor, Side-Center and promising beginner; and Margaret Moody, alert Score Keeper.

The High School Squad was under the able leadership of Mary Mills, Manager, and Anne Nenzel, Captain. The Forwards were: Margaret Bowers, Ellen Holeman, Elna Lowenthal, Betsey Marston, and Dora Mazer; Centers: Ellen Richardson and Bernice Smith. Side-Centers: Lucy Cooke, Florence Marston, and Anne Peple; Guards: Doris Broadstreet, Virginia Hall, Katherine Soyers, and Bessie Whitworth.

A special feature this year was the Faculty Game. This event was attended with much school spirit and helped manifest the policy of Girls' Athletics, which has progressed much more easily this year due largely to the organization, last November, of a Girls'

Athletic Council, composed of Misses Benton, Ragland, and Max Brockenbrough.

The John Marshall Squad was pleased this year to have as its Reception Committee the High School Squad. This work was efficiently carried out by Mary Mills, the Chairman and Squad Manager, who was generously assisted by the Squad.

The "Monogram Service" is held each year as the formal close of the basket-ball season. At this meeting the monograms are awarded, and a contribution is made by the outgoing squad in the form of recommendations for the incoming group and girls' athletics in the future. All of these suggestions and the numerous other duties have been most efficiently carried out during the present season by Athletic Manager Alma Gibson Baker and her helpful assistant, Mary Virginia White.

The five points of scholarship, sportsmanship, health training, prompt attendance, and playing ability have been aimed for throughout the entire season.

The girls who have met the high standards of the Monogram Award are:

“G ROUND, sticks, ground, sticks, ground, sticks, HIT!” The Bully.
 “Take that ball, wing!”
 “Come on, gang; let’s keep it!”
 “Rush that goal!”
 “Trrrrrt!” (Referee’s whistle.)
 “Blocking!” shouts Miss Mac. “Free hit. Other way.”

This is what the astonished residents of Byrd Park heard about the first of October when they saw a group of bloomer-clad girls chasing a little ball up the Athletic Field. But by the end of eight weeks they had learned that it was only the Girl Reserve Hockey Team out for a little practice.

BESSIE WHITWORTH, Captain

LAILA WHEARY, Manager

When the team first organized under the leadership of Miss McMillan, they elected Bessie Whitworth as Captain and Laila Wheary as Manager. Florence Marston was chosen as Assistant Manager. The line-up was: Wings—Ellen Richardson, Mary Nash White, Kenzie Parsons; Inners—Margaret Bowers, Roberta Kuyk, Virginia Newell; Center—Laila Wheary; Half-backs—Eleanor Colvin, Bessie Whitworth, Lillian Cauthorne, Elizabeth Crone; Full-backs—Margaret Van Oot, Anne Nenzel; Goal Guard—Florence Marston.

Of the six games played, the team won three and tied one. Those which they won were the games with Thomas Jefferson and St. Catherine's. The game which ended in a scoreless tie was the one with Maury High School of Norfolk.

The final game with Maury on December 13 was a post-season game and attracted more spectators than any of the other games. The tea given on this same day by Kenzie Parsons ended the most successful season in the history of the John Marshall Hockey Teams.

ADVERTISEMENTS

The Marshallite

JOHN MARSHALL HIGH SCHOOL
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

June 11, 1931

Dear fellow Marshallites:

Just let me remind you that our 1931 MARSHALLITE does not end here. In the following pages you will find many things of interest.

Primarily, this section is devoted to our advertisers --- those loyal business friends of ours who stand behind us in all our work at old John Marshall. Without them, it would be impossible for us to have an annual in which to keep forever the memories of the happy days and lasting friendships which we have made during our stay here. And what would John Marshall be without an annual?

The first part of the section contains the advertisements of some of the best colleges in the country. If you pick your college from among them, you can't go wrong.

The rest of this section contains advertisements of the best firms in Richmond. The leaders in the various professions are all listed here. Scattered throughout are attractive snapshots of our Alma Mater, and our friends and schoolmates here.

Don't go hurriedly through this section---linger awhile over the messages our business friends have placed here for us to see ---and, last, but not least, give these friends the patronage which they so honestly deserve---Back the advertisers who back your annual.

Yours for many happy days,

Beverley L. Britton

HOW TO BEAT THE MARKET

Countless personal and domestic financial collapses darkening the past two years have bitterly emphasized the values of thriftiness, of education in handling money, and of sound estate-building methods. To such important phases of his career the young man cannot too early begin to give intensely thoughtful attention.

It has been said by a respected authority that a young man's first investment should be adequate Life Insurance. Such advice will be warmly endorsed by rational, clear-visioned business executives.
